

Aggie Pride

is a feeling that you can only understand through experience. It is a family atmosphere and a sense of belonging that few other universities can match. Aggie Pride is the teachers who spend long hours with students helping them to individually succeed to be future NASA employees, NASCAR drivers, BET hosts and Fortune 500 company executives.

Aggie Pride

is the sense of community among all N.C. A&T students, faculty and staff. This nurturing environment helps to bridge the gap between family life and newfound independence. The feeling of belonging to something special transcends all barriers and connects a community of Aggies from all cultures, backgrounds and experiences.

We Are Family

Aggie Lifestyle

N.C. A&T has a lot to offer beyond the typical classroom setting. The large variety of student organizations, intramural sports and leadership opportunities foster excellence and make for an unforgettable and rewarding college experience. Lasting friendships are created through participation in athletics, Greek life, the A&T Register student newspaper, WNNA 90.1 FM, Blue & Gold Marching Machine, ROTC and much, much more.

Unlike other campuses, where students are randomly assigned to residence halls, at N.C. A&T you can choose from 13 different halls including traditional rooms, suites and two or four bedroom apartments. Currently, more than 4,000 students take advantage of the convenience and community of campus life.

We Are A Family

The moment you step onto N.C. A&T's campus, you become a cherished member of the Aggie Family. Let N.C. A&T become your home away from home. N.C. A&T is conveniently located on 188 scenic rolling acres in the center of North Carolina's Piedmont, just blocks from downtown Greensboro. Experience the best of both worlds, a small-town campus feel, surrounded by a culturally-rich metropolitan city.

At N.C. A&T, students are never just a number or statistic. Our Admissions Office staff provides all potential students and their families with direct and personal service regarding the academics and extracurricular environments of the university. The financial aid team at N.C. A&T is always available to help students find ways to pay for college. There are several options available to assist students in financing their education, including grant assistance, scholarships, employment, monthly payment plans and long-term loans.
