2017-18 N.C. A&T WOMEN’S BASKETBALL
Tarrell Robinson named the sixth head coach in the history of the North Carolina A&T women's basketball program on May 2, 2012. Robinson is among the best and brightest young coaches in women's basketball. He has won a MEAC tournament title, a MEAC regular-season title, has three postseason appearances including an NCAA berth and two WNIT appearances and has finished second twice and third once during various MEAC regular seasons all before age 40. In March of 2016, he took the nation’s fourth-youngest coaching staff and won the program’s third MEAC title with a 65-46 win over Coppin State in the championship game.

Robinson has compiled an 99-58 record over five seasons with a 52-14 record at home in Corbett Sports Center. He is the only basketball coach in school history (men or women) to open their respective N.C. A&T tenure with three consecutive 20-win seasons. Robinson’s teams have also been stellar in the classroom. In 2015, it was announced the Aggies had a perfect single-year APR score of 1000. Five players on Robinson’s 2015-16 team had already earned their undergraduate degrees. Four of those players were and still are pursuing master’s degrees while the other one pursued another undergraduate degree.

Defense and sharing the basketball has also been a staple of Robinson’s program. The Aggies have finished first twice, second once and fourth once in scoring defense in the conference during Robinson’s tenure. The 2013-14 season saw the Aggies finish fourth nationally in scoring defense. The following season the Aggies finished 11th nationally in the same category. Opponents are only averaging 55.2 points per game against the Aggies under Robinson, and the Aggies have plus-7.2 scoring margin against foes since Robinson became head coach.

The Aggies also have not finished lower than third in the conference in assists per game since 2013-14 season including leading the MEAC in 2015-16. In two out of Robinson’s four seasons the Aggies have led the conference in field goal percentage and the team finished third in that area during the 2014-15 season. During the 2013-14 season, the Aggies got off to the best start in school history by going 7-1 as they finished the year 24-7. Also that season, the Aggies made history by becoming the first historically black college or university to win consecutive games in the preseason WNIT. Robinson was also selected to participate in The Center for Coaching Excellence presented by the Women’s Basketball Coaches Association (WBCA).

Prior to his successful stints at N.C. A&T and VCU, Robinson spent two seasons as a graduate assistant for the N.C. A&T men’s basketball program under head coach Curtis Hunter. He worked with student-athletes with individual skill development and served as the film exchange coordinator. He also coordinated the summer basketball camp and taught classes in the university’s Health and Physical Education Department. He then worked two seasons as the assistant boys basketball coach at High Point Andrews High School, where he helped Andrews compile a 42-13 record and a pair of appearances in the NCHSAA State Tournament.

Robinson has also participated as an instructor in basketball camps hosted by NCAA Division I head coaches Roy Williams, the late Skip Prosser and Fran McCaffery. He was also an active participant in the award-winning National Youth Sports Program (NYS) at N.C. A&T. Robinson also has taught at risk children at local elementary schools as a part of the university’s Gear-Up Foundation Program. Robinson first made his mark at N.C. A&T as a student-athlete at N.C. A&T. He played on the men’s basketball team from 1997-2001, and had a stellar playing career at N.C. A&T. He scored 934 career points, grabbed more than 700 rebounds and blocked 35 shots during his career. He led the Aggies in rebounding his junior season. Robinson attended E.E. Smith High School in Fayetteville, N.C., where he was an Honorable Mention McDonald’s All-American and lettered three years on the varsity level. He was an all-conference and all-regional performer as a senior and led the Golden Bulls to a conference championship and regional runner-up finish in the state playoffs.
